HOMECOMING

Muskingum's 1966 Homecoming officially began Friday night, October 21, with the Varsity Review when the queen and her court were presented. The co-captains of the football team presented the queen with a football and the attendants with helmets. The queen, Karol Pfeiffer, and her attendants, Carla Moore and Gwen Beard, were introduced at the game, and the winner of the float competition, the Kianu float, was announced. A decisive victory over Wooster—32 to 0—climaxed the weekend. Sally Smith and Bill Richey were the co-chairmen of the events.

ROW ONE: Jan Jacobson, June Speicher, Sally Smith, Carol Hoier; ROW TWO: Lois Hawksley, Lynn Jamieson, Sara Paisley, Esther Harkness; ROW

THREE: Bill Warwick, Bill Richey, Chuck Baumgartner; ROW FOUR: Ed Parrot, Jay MiKirahan, Ray McFadden, Don Shrimplin

PARENT'S DAY

The annual Parent's Day of Muskingum offers the parents an opportunity to visit the campus for a weekend and to become more familiar with the school as they participate in the planned events. This year the theme for the weekend was "Gay Nineties." Saturday morning, October 29, Dr. Sturtevant lectured on "America's Commitment in South Viet Nam." Muskingum's victory of 47 to 0 over Ohio Northern and the off-Broadway musical show "The Fantastiks" highlighted the day. Larry Bryan spoke at the Sunday morning worship service which concluded the weekend.

U.S.A AND AFRICAN CONFERENCE

Inciting a greater awareness and interest and developing a fuller understanding of the African nations and their relations with the United States summarizes the purpose intended, as well as the purpose achieved by the three-day conference, "The U.S.A. and Africa."

The keynote address by Joseph Palmer II, assistant secretary of state for African affairs divulged America's disapproval of policies of the governments of Southern Rhodesia and South Africa.

Ambassador S. O. Adebó, permanent representative to the United Nations from Nigeria, presented a provocative closing address in which he challenged the United States to extend greater respect, tolerance, and understanding toward the African Nations.

Samuel W. Speck, Jr., assistant professor of political science at Muskingum College, was director of the conference which was sponsored by the Social Science division.

Joseph Palmer II

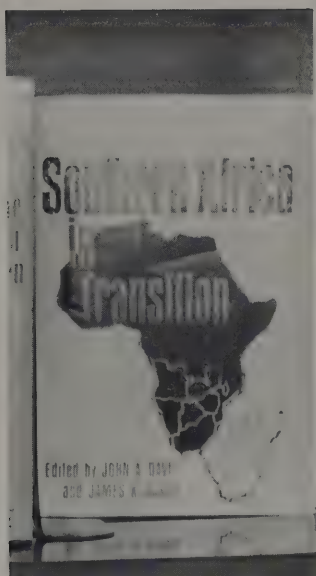

Immanuel Wallerstein

Immanuel Wallerstein, Associate Professor of Sociology, Columbia University presented an address entitled, "Africa in Transition." Herman Nissenbaum, Deputy Director of the Office of Development Planning, U.S. Agency for International Development, and Kenneth Spang, Vice President, First National City Bank, New York City, and President of the African-American Chamber of Commerce, presented a symposium on "Problems and Prospects for African Economic Development."

Herman J. Nissenbaum; Kenneth M. Spang

Dr. Sturtevant, Gwendolen M. Carter, Eduardo Mondlane

Gwendolen M. Carter, Professor of Political Science and Director of African Studies Program, Northwestern University, and Eduardo Mondlane, President of the Mozambique Liberation Front, presented a symposium on "The Crisis in Southern Africa."

Vinie Burrows, actress, dramatized African myths and folk-tales.

Vinie Burrows

"The Swampdwellers," a one-act play by Wole Soyinka, a Nigerian playwright, featured a student cast: Leonard Mseka, Nathan Epenu, Oliver Warobi, and Danette Abdullah. An exhibition of African sculpture showing one of the great creative traditions of the world was presented by Warren Robbins, director of the Museum of African Art of The Frederick Douglass Institute, Washington, D.C. The well received exhibition was the first ever removed from the Washington museum.

Warren Robbins and students

Percival Borde presented a program of African dancing, and Edwin Culbertson, Professor of Theater, Indiana University, spoke on the African Theater.

MATHEMATICS

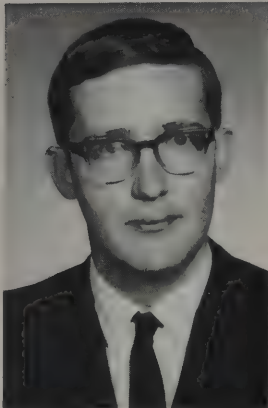

The modernization of Muskingum has become a reality this year. A computer system has been installed, updating administrative services and providing research facilities for students and faculty.

A convenient system of computerized pre-registration has made registration more efficient and much faster. All grade processing, including Dean's list and academic probation, will be done by the computer. A new course in computer science gives students an opportunity for undergraduate study in the field of computer technology.

Muskingum's computer system now includes the following equipment: 1130 Computer, 1132 printer, 1142 card read punch, 082 sorter, 026 printing card punch, and a 26 interpreting card punch.

Muskingum won its second consecutive Ohio Conference Championship, and the team established two major records. A 6—0 conference record extended the winning streak to 19 games, surpassing the 18 win record held by Wittenberg. Also the nine wins this year and eight last year gave the team 17 consecutive wins. Muskingum placed eight men on the first All-Conference Team: Doug Smart, Scott Herriott, Rick Harbold, Rick Bonifield, Mark DeVilling, Carl Lambert, Rich Schneider, Doug Welsh. Named to the second team were Steve Aller and Pete Brookhart. At the conclusion of the season Mark DeVilling, Little All-American selection, and Rick Harbold with over 1,000 yards rushing this season, were awarded the Mike Gregory Awards for Best Defensive and Offensive Players, respectively, in the O.C. After being rated 7th in the nation by both AP and UPI polls, the Muskies accepted their second bid in three years to the Grantland Rice Bowl. They were defeated 34—7 by 2nd-rated Tennessee State University. Head coach Ed Sherman was honored at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He received the Tommy Helms Award and an award from Sport Magazine.
